

25-26 Feb '19
Kigali, Rwanda

AVIATION LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT COURSE

1 Discover your motivations and what you want to achieve in leadership and life.

2 Exploring what motivates others and how you can work with them towards their and your outcomes

3 Stand back and assess the wisdom of your intended actions.

Leadership remains one of the most critical and relevant aspects of the organizational context.

This course will help you become the leader your organisation needs and the leader you want to be, no matter where you move in aviation. Well-honed leadership skills will help you as a leader lead the direction of an organisation rather than simply managing existing operations.

The course will support you in applying your social influence to maximize the efforts of yourself and others to achieve an efficient and safe African aviation industry.

Your instructor Gwen Dudok van Heel has been training in the areas of leadership and management development for over 15 years. She has delivered training to a range of private, public and voluntary sector organisations during that period. Gwen has extensive knowledge in a corporate environment on the development of teams, strategic management and planning. Her portfolio also includes one-to-one mentoring and executive coaching.

Her practice is connected to senior aviation management in the Netherlands and she is a regular facilitator in leadership courses for the African aviation industry.

Intended participants include:

- Directors General, managing directors & CEOs from leading industry companies and organisations including airlines, aviation authorities, airports, training schools & maintenance companies
- Heads of directorates & departments
- Airline & airport managers
- Chief Air Traffic Control Officers
- Safety managers
- Emerging leaders

This course takes no more than 12 learners.

Course modules include:

Leadership styles
Effective communication
Understanding Leadership
Motivating & influencing employees

US$ 650
only
Incl. lunches & breaks

Feedback strategies
Team roles & team building
Personal & organisational challenges

Brought to you by:

In co-operation with:

Sponsored by:

